

HOME (YOUNG MUM)

Nadia Fall

YOUNG MUM: There was a few issues um, domestic violence and stuff like that which got a bit out of hand... I think there was an incident outside where he did hit me in a DLR station and then he head-butted me and stuff and the police got involved and, this has happened several times before but I just never put a statement through and then at the time I just thought enough's enough....

His family didn't even call when she was born, they haven't asked how she was... I went through hell when I was living with his family, it was just me a slave there to be honest, just cook for fourteen people...

I used to wake up in the morning and I just used to look at an empty mirror basically, I just used to see through me like, I didn't feel as if I existed sometimes... you're in the house, you just can't see yourself, you just, you just feel as if that's your life and... it's gonna end there.

I was on depression tablets as well, the first miscarriage I had was due to domestic violence so to me it was, I felt as though something was taken from me so I always wanted a baby since.

I do allow him to come here yeah, but I will have to, because of her, that's one good thing about Target though... which is extremely good for me and especially security... umm... but he does come down, if he does come down, if I know he's drunk I wouldn't let him near me.
