

ISE I (B1) Interview: developing a Topic

Level:

ISE I (CEFR B1)

Time:

2 x 45 minutes

Aims:

- ✓ To use mind maps to help plan the Topic
- ✓ To plan the Topic by thinking about the language of ISE I
- ✓ To practise interviews based on Topic Forms

Resources and preparation:

- From Lesson Plan 1: Students need their mind maps for their chosen Topic from Lesson Plan 1 and lists of ISE I language from Lesson Plan 1 (H/O2)
- From this Lesson Plan: Handout 1 (H/O1): Example Topic Form for ISE I
- Handout 2a (H/O2a): 18 individual question cards for ISE I. For Handout 2a, you need 1 x handout for every 3 students.
- Handout 2b (H/O2b): 18 individual question cards for ISE I. For Handout 2b, you need 1 x handout for every 3 students.
- When you have made the photocopies, cut up each handout to make individual question cards. Put the cards from H/O2a and H/O2b together = 1 x set of cards.
- Before the lesson, you should have 1 x set of 36 cards for every group of 3 students. Put each set of cards in individual envelopes or in a small bag to keep them safe.

Procedure:

1. ISE I language and mind maps (45 minutes)

i) Demonstrating mind maps for the Topic (10 minutes): The students need their final mind maps from Lesson Plan 1 and also from Lesson Plan 1, the list of language of ISE I.

Do a demonstration on the white/blackboard. Draw a mind map on the board and ask the class for an idea for a Topic. (Remember not to use 'pets/best friends/family' or any of the 6 general Subjects for Conversation from ISE I. Encourage students to think of a specific Topic which is personal.)

Write the title of the Topic in the middle of the mind map and ask the students to suggest different ideas connected to the Topic. Accept around 10 to 12 different ideas and add them to the mind map on the board.

ii) ISE I language and the demonstration mind map (10 minutes): Decide if you want to use ISE I for your demonstration. Next, tell the students to look at the list of language for your chosen demonstration Level from Lesson Plan 1 (H/O2). Ask them to think of ways of using the language of ISE I to talk about each of the Topic points on the mind map on the board. You can do this as a class activity, or give the students 5 minutes to think about it and then tell you their answers.

iii) ISE I language and the students' own mind maps (15 minutes): Tell the students they have 15 minutes to look at their mind maps and try to use as many examples as possible of the language of ISE I with each point on their mind map. Tell them it's ok if they find that some are too difficult, they can move to the next mind map point.

iv) Choosing the best Topic points (5 minutes): Tell the students to choose the best 5 mind map points for ISE I. The best ones are the ones that generate the most ideas and the most language of the Level.

v) Completing a Topic Form (5 minutes): Give the students a copy of H/O1, the ISE I Topic Form. Tell them to write their best points on the spaces on the Topic Form.

2. Practising the Topic (45 minutes)

i) Thinking of ISE I questions (10 minutes): In order to warm the students up, tell them to look at the demonstration mind map on the black/white board and ask them to think of questions that they could ask about the Topic. They must try to use ISE I language. For example:

- |  |  |
|--|--|
| - Have you ever ...?   | - How many times have you ...?               |
| - What/where/when do you think you will..?                   | - Which one do you prefer?                   |
| - Why...?  | - How important is ...? Why?                 |
| - Tell me what you must/mustn't...?                          | - What do/did/will you need to ...?          |
| - What's your opinion of...?                                 | - Tell me what you were doing when ...       |
| - What do/will you do if ...?                                | - What might happen if ...?                  |
| - Do you think you might ...?                                | - In 6 months' time/ this time next year ... |
| - Do you have to ..X (in order) to ..Y?                      |  |
| - Tell me what you are doing this time next week/month/year? |  |

Tell the students that 'Tell me...' is a very popular phrase in English. It is possible that the examiner will use 'Tell me', so it is a good idea to practise using it.

ii) Students Interview each other using the cards on H/O2a and H/O2b (25 minutes): Tell the students to change their seats and sit in new groups of 3. Tell each group of 3 to decide who is 'A', who is 'B' and who is 'C'. When each group has decided, tell them that:

'A' = an examiner                      'B' = an examiner                      'C' = a candidate

Show the class the question cards from H/O2a and H/O2b (mixed together). Tell the class that A and B must use the question cards and take turns to ask C questions about C's Topic Form. Demonstrate to the class how this works, including how to complete the questions cards which have some missing words.

Give students 'A' and 'B' a set of the questions cards. 'A' and 'B' ask 'C' questions about 'C's Topic Form and 'C' must answer the questions by trying to use the language of ISE I.

After 5 minutes, stop the activity. Tell the class to swap roles.

'A' = a candidate                      'B' = an examiner                      'C' = an examiner

Repeat the activity using 'A's Topic Form. The students can re-use the question cards if they finish all of the questions. After 5 minutes, stop the activity and change roles one more time:

'A' = an examiner                      'B' = a candidate                      'C' = an examiner

Repeat the activity. If the teacher prefers, this game can be longer - it could be as much as 45 minutes. In order to prepare for the exam, it is a good idea to use the game many times.

iii) Feedback and development (10 minutes) Ask for feedback from the class: which questions were the best? Which questions produced long answers? Which points on the Topic Forms were easy to talk about? Which points on the Topic Forms were hard to talk about? Ask the students if they want to completely change their Topic and try something new. This is ok, and is part of the process of developing the best Topic.
